VIP NEW YEAR'S

New Year's Eve fêtes have long been confined to champagne toasts, a dropping ball and rounds of "Auld Lang Syne," but if you're looking for a standout celebration that goes beyond the old clichés, seek out Remote Lands' Asian holidays this season. The bespoke travel specialist offers four unforgettable ways to start 2010, whether your resolution is to party all night or attain inner peace. Choose among itineraries to India, Indonesia, Japan and Bhutan—from a lavish Bollywood bash hosted by Prince Shivaji Rao Holkar, to an inspiring sunrise breakfast at the Amankora monastery on New Year's Day, complete with private blessing from the senior lama. Expect to pay about $1,000 a day per person for most packages.
